Art - shadow drawing

Observing the passing of time and the movement of the sun can be achieved by putting a stick in the ground, marking the shadow on a piece of paper and then returning after a short while to see how far the shadow has moved.

Why not make it more artistic by attaching a piece of white paper or card to the stick, carefully trace the shadow of a plant and then come back to redraw the shadow when it has moved.

Use soft pencils, or the side of your pencil tip, to give the drawings a 'shadowy' effect.

Try this a few times - think carefully about how you can improve your art each time.
