There are a variety of films for you to look and listen to, as well as some suggestions of things to try at home.

This section is titled 'Films' and is set against a background image of a group of people in a dark space with their arms raised. It contains the following text and images:

- Introduction films & Orchestral films
Take a look at our collection of films introducing the individual pieces alongside the performances.
- This week: Create your own 3D sculpture...
Get arty with Amy Leung as she shows you how to create your own 3D sculpture inspired by Anna Clyne's Night Ferry!
- First...
Watch Doc Brown as he plunges into the darkest depths of the ocean with Anna Clyne's stormy Night Ferry. Discover how she composed her music by picking up a paint brush instead of writing music notes on paper!
- Then...
Using materials you might find around your home, follow artist Amy Leung's step-by-step guide on how to create a sculpture using Night Ferry to inspire shapes, patterns and textures.

There are two video thumbnails: one showing a man in a dark jacket standing in a colorful, abstract environment, and another showing hands drawing musical notes on a white surface with markers.
